

Cookie rules

In order to ensure the proper functioning of this website, small data files called cookies are stored on your device. It is a commonly used tool these days.

What are cookies?

A cookie is a small text file that websites store on your computer or mobile device when you browse websites. Allows a website to remember your actions and preferences (such as login name, language, font size and other display preferences) over a period of time so you don't have to re-enter them when you visit the website again.

How do we use cookies?

Our website uses cookies to remember user settings and better adapt the website to the visitor's interests. Although cookies are not absolutely necessary for the functioning of websites, they offer greater comfort when visiting websites. You can delete or block these cookies, but in this case some functions of this website may not work as intended. Cookie information is not used to identify you personally. These cookies are not used for purposes other than those described here.

How to control cookies

You can control or delete cookies according to your needs. You can delete any cookies already stored on your device, and most browsers will enable settings that prevent cookies from being stored. In this case, you may need to manually adjust some settings each time you browse the website and some services and features
